

Open Research Data and Open Science

Marjan Grootveld

A computational linguist by training, Dr Marjan Grootveld is senior policy consultant at Data Archiving and Networked Services (DANS) (<http://dans.knaw.nl/en/>). DANS promotes sustained access to digital research data and encourages researchers to archive and reuse data.

Enabling the re-use of knowledge, information, and data is the common element in Marjan's career, ranging from corporate knowledge management via red tape reduction in eGovernment to sustainable data management in academia. At DANS she advises knowledge institutes and research funders on data management policy and practice, also by coaching attendants of the Research Data Netherlands training Essentials 4 Data Support (<http://datasupport.researchdata.nl/en/>). With other DANS colleagues Marjan participates in European projects such as OpenAIRE and EUDAT.
