Abstract

The Multimedia Center and AlmaDL (the digital library of the University of Bologna) have started a collaboration with the European Research and Innovation Office in order to provide expertise and support for data management requirements within H2020 Open Research Data Pilot. The presentation will focus on the organization of the support service from definition of activities to costing and staffing. Levels of assistance provided will be described in detail together with the pitfalls encountered and the remedies elaborated so far in delivering the data management plans of two research projects coordinated by Bologna University
